Union County: County Students Selected As World Class Students Of The Week

UNION COUNTY—Five local students were recognized by the Business Coalition for Educational Excellence (BCEE), at the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce, as a World Class Students of the Week and featured on the News 12 New Jersey program "12 In Our Schools." World Class Students are high school juniors and seniors who have completed, or are on their way to completing, a rigorous set of coursework to prepare them for success in college and life.

The Union County students who were selected include:

- Paul Hamilton of Rahway High School in Rahway School District
- Robert Taj Moore of Rahway High School in Rahway School District
- Shannon Spaziani of Linden High School in Linden School District
- Anthony Vilialta of Linden High School in Linden School District
- Alissa Imbriaco of Arthur L. Johnson High School in Clark School District

The sequence of rigorous coursework that these students have been taking is research-proven to provide the skills and knowledge for success in college and the workplace. Once a student has completed, or is near to completing this sequence of courses, they are eligible for nomination as a World Class Student of the Week.

Fifty-two New Jersey students have been selected and will be featured on the New Jersey Learn Do Earn Web site (www.LearnDoEarn.org) and honored at a dinner as part of this program. Sponsorship of the News 12 program for 2007 was made possible by the Do-It-Yourself retailer Lowe's.
