

World-Class Student

NORTH WILDWOOD — John Maloy, a student at Wildwood Catholic High School, was recognized May 11 by the Business Coalition for Educational Excellence at the state's Chamber of Commerce as the "World Class Student of the Week." According to a press release by the coalition, a student must be a high school junior or senior that has completed, or on their way to completing, a "rigorous set of coursework" including, Algebra, Geometry, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, two years of the same world language and four years of college-prep English.

